

Canon's vision is for a sustainable society that promotes enriched lifestyles while protecting and conserving the environment. Through our "Action for Green" vision we are working closely with our customers, business partners and suppliers to protect the environment by continually reducing our environmental impact through the whole product lifecycle and contributing to local biodiversity initiatives.

As a global leader in imaging technology with world-class business process outsourcing and leading-edge business technology solutions the Canon Oceania Group is committed to contributing to the UN Sustainable Development Goals by engaging its people to:

- Reduce electricity, gas and water use in our offices and other sites.
- Reduce greenhouse gas emissions from product distribution and collection, managed services, business process outsourcing, and sales and service activities.
- Reduce waste and where it can't be reduced, reuse or recycle it where possible.
- Implement the APCO sustainable packaging guidelines.
- Eliminate hazardous substances where possible and prevent pollution.
- Ensure that procurement decisions include relevant environmental criteria.

In addition, we will positively contribute to our community by:

- Providing information to our customers so that they can use our products and services to reduce their own environmental footprint.
- Actively working towards the development of effective national product stewardship programs for end-of-life product in Australia and New Zealand.
- Supporting local community activities that contribute to biodiversity conservation.

To ensure that this policy is effectively implemented and that we continue to improve our performance, Canon maintains an ISO 14001 Certified Environmental Management System.

We provide resources to ensure that we comply with all applicable legislation and other codes to which we subscribe.

We set annual targets for environmental performance and publicly report progress.

We commit to being open and honest in discussing improvement opportunities with our stakeholders, including our business partners, customers, employees, government, industry and the community.
